

Freshwater Fisheries Society of BC

More licences sold, more fish to catch

Did you know that when you buy an annual freshwater fishing licence, you help the Freshwater Fisheries Society of BC stock fish into more than 800 lakes each year? You also help fund research, conservation, and education programs and, through the Society's Fishing in the City program, help to create more fishing spots closer to your home.

Your licence purchase also includes an angling conservation surcharge. The Habitat Conservation Trust Foundation (HCTF), a non-profit, charitable organization, invests this surcharge revenue into science-based projects to conserve and rehabilitate waterways throughout our province. For more information about the HCTF's valuable work, visit their website at www.hctf.ca.

Every angler 16 years and older requires a freshwater fishing licence, and each purchase of a licence is making sport fishing in B.C. better than ever. Thanks for doing your part.
